

Cedarburg Players presents

"Crimes of the Heart"

. . . a comedy/drama by Beth Henley

at our new fall and spring venue:

North Shore Academy of the Arts (NSAA) 1111 Broad Street in Grafton (connected to the Grafton Library)

This Pulitzer prize-winning play offers a warm-hearted portrayal of three young Mississippi sisters whose reunion triggers an amusing mix of conflicts and revelations. Their attempts at escaping the past to seize the future (through the ultimate saving grace of laughter) are so true and touching and consistently hilarious that they will linger in the mind long after the curtain has descended.

KITCHEN WITCHES by Caroline Smith

April 16-25, 2010 at NSAA in Grafton

When Dolly and her nemesis, Isobel, get cast in the same cable cooking show, trouble starts a brewing. It's a surefire recipe for chaos and comedy as the two archrivals each do their best to upstage the other. Kitchen Witches is good old-fashioned slapstick comedy all the way, with a dash of farce and just a hint of drama thrown in for good measure.

MOON OVER BUFFALO by Ken Ludwig

August 13-22, 2010 at the Todd Wehr Theatre at Concordia University in Mequon

Auditions: July 6th & 7th (7-9pm)

George and Charlotte Hay have unwillingly come to the highlight of their theatrical careers in a quaint Buffalo theater. Currently the group is performing Cyrano de Bergerac and Private Lives. After learning that a famous Hollywood director is coming to give George one final shot at stardom, miscommunication ensues and the hilarity begins. A fun romp through the exhilarating spirit of the theatre world.
